Why Young People Are Leaving the Church (and What to Do About It)

Everett Fritz | Founder and Executive Director, Andrew Ministries

You've seen statistics and there is no other way to put it. The Catholic Church is in a battle for the souls of our youth, and we are losing. Jesus Christ did not simply communicate the message of the Gospel, he also taught how to pass that message down from generation to generation. This presentation will discuss the topic of discipleship and why it is the key to fixing the problem of losing our young people.

Benedict XVI repeatedly referred to the contemporary age as a "spiritual desert." In this public conversation, poets Dana Gioia and James Matthew Wilson will consider Fine Arts and the Future of Christian Culture the prospects for renewal of a vibrant Christian culture driven by a new growth in the arts, liturgy, and intellectual life. With a look back to the great contribution of Catholics to cultural life in past decades, the discussion will also consider those seeds being newly planted in our time.

The Gates of Hell will not Prevail: A Workshop to Understand the Power of Your Personal Apostolate for the New Evangelization

Jason J. Simon, M.Div. | President, The Evangelical Catholic

St. Josemaria Escriva said that the Church needs a new pastoral paradigm aimed at helping the laity discover their personal charisms of holiness and apostolate. Indeed, the greatest opportunity to broadly and deeply impact the world with the truth of Jesus Christ is found in the millions of Catholic laity who are already perfectly positioned for evangelization all over the world. This workshop will walk through a process of formation, training, and discernment to help every lay Catholic enthusiastically embrace their God-given personal apostolate. Every attendee will leave with practical steps and tools to bring their friends, co-workers, neighbors, or family members closer to the Lord. "...and the gates of hell will not prevail" (Matthew 16:19).

become disciples. Discipleship begins with an authentic encounter with Jesus Christ that leads to a transformation in one's life. As Pope Benedict XVI said in a speech he delivered at Catholic University of America in 2008, "First and foremost every Catholic educational institution is a place to encounter the living God who in Jesus Christ reveals his transforming love and truth." When we understand this encounter it transforms the way we see all of creation and our whole lives through the incarnation. This transformation makes a truly Catholic Education possible, where we form disciples to transform reality. It means that Catholic educators must first experience this transformation themselves and then work to create this culture of encounter in their schools.

Catholic Education: Creating a Harvest of Vocations
Rhonda Gruenewald | President/Founder, Vocation Ministry

Year after year, studies find that close to 75% of the newly ordained first considered being a priest between birth and 18 years of age, which emphasizes the absolute necessity to encourage vocations early in life. To inspire young people to hear God's call, Vocation Ministry has created a fresh and innovative approach to serve the Catholic Church by inspiring and equipping the people who already have their attention - teachers, catechists, and youth ministers. Our new book, The Harvest: A Guide to Vocation Ministry in Education offers 75 pioneering ideas to create a vocation-friendly environment. I would like to share activities, designed specifically for educators, so that vocations permeate all aspects of Catholic education. One teacher, from the Diocese of Syracuse, said, "This is the clear roadmap for encouraging vocations in my classroom."

How Subconscious Beliefs Shape Our Faith Journey
Fr. Bill Watson, S.J. | Founder/President, The Sacred Story Institute.

The classic separation of human awareness into the conscious, subconscious and unconscious, is giving way to new understandings of the brain's functioning based on studies in neuroscience. However, in assessing the complexity of human behavior, especially as it applies to holistic growth and holiness, the categories can still be useful. The presentation will look at the old categories of consciousness and what neuroscience is discovering, to tease out insights on how the use of the classic Ignatian Examination of Conscience prayer can be leveraged to help individuals look more "consciously" at their daily beliefs and behaviors for greater healing, hope and holiness.

the clergy cast vision and drew upon parish renewal and the ministry of the priest. These documents are a strong and urgent call for parishes to put Evangelization at the core of their ministry. Fr James Mallon will speak into the global responsibility of the church as its missionary identity is to serve a missionary option. The parish is a fundamental place of Evangelical proclamation and a place where Christ is celebrated and how it can adopt the three steps of Evangelization: pre-eminent, primary, and preferential. As the largest church in the world, the Catholic Church has a pre-eminent responsibility to lead the parish into a missional focus and direction. By leading with mission, the primacy of Evangelization inspires growth and conversion of the parish as it leads more people to Christ. By lifting Evangelization in the parish, the parish removes barriers to acceptance of Christ and preferential option to inspire a vision of mission. Fr James Mallon will discuss why this ought to be manifested in the church. Speaking into the challenges of change and how to shift focus to a church rich with Evangelization.

Integral Human Development: The Power of Transforming the Poor both Materially & Spiritually

Jim Cavnar | President/Founder/CEO, Cross Catholic Outreach

Twenty-five years ago, Pope St. John Paul II and his successor Pope Benedict XVI launched an effort to deal with what they saw as the serious problem of the secularization of Catholic charities. Their vision for true Catholic charity coalesced around the concept of Integral Human Development which works for the "integral good" of the human person both material and spiritual. In the midst of their efforts Cross Catholic Outreach was being launched and soon was highlighting grass roots models around the world that demonstrated the power of spiritually rooted Catholic charities to transform the poor and their communities both materially and spiritually. Jim Cavnar has been in the forefront of these events and speaks from experience about the success that faithful Catholic charities are having in bringing about lasting transformation of the poor through strategies of integral human development.

'Defend Us in Battle!': St. Michael the Archangel's Role in Times of Crisis

James Day | Author & EWTN West Coast Studio Operations Manager

He is known as the Guardian of Purgatory, Guardian of the Blessed Sacrament, Protector of France and Vatican City, but how well do we really know St. Michael the Archangel? Do we really believe in his power, by the will of God, to cast Satan and all the evil demons into the bowels of hell? How can we better come to know this warrior angel of peace, especially in times of crisis? James Day, author of the bestselling Our Sunday Visitor book, Saint Michael the Archangel (2020), guides us through parts of Sacred Scripture and Christian tradition where Michael's influence was dramatically felt. Day examines how Michael's virtues reflect the virtues of the Holy Trinity, and shows us how we can draw closer to that Trinitarian light by calling on St. Michael's help and protection.
